Headteacher's Review of the Week

I am delighted to share that our school has recently received a fantastic new set of laptops and iPads, kindly provided by the Trust. These new devices are already making a wonderful difference in classrooms, helping our children to explore learning in exciting and interactive ways.

From practising maths skills through engaging apps to researching topics for creative writing and projects, the technology is opening up new opportunities for every child. It's also helping teachers to personalise learning, ensuring that each pupil can work at their own pace and build confidence with digital skills that will be so important for the future. We are very grateful to the Trust for their continued support in helping our children thrive.

An example of this is below:

 Daisy Class have started their new photography unit in Computing! This week, they learnt how to take a great photo by holding the iPad with two hands, positioning it carefully, asking permission before taking someone's picture, pressing the capture button, and checking their results. They had lots of fun practising their new skills by photographing different objects and each other outside! 🌳🌟

We thank you for your continued support.
